More product information

The Scorpio mattress combines robust construction with excellent hygiene performance. The tamper-resistant polyurethane-coated nylon cover is designed to withstand heavy wear and attempts at damage, providing increased safety and long-term durability. The heat-welded seams make the mattress completely waterproof and effectively prevent liquid penetration, making it ideal for incontinence or areas where frequent cleaning is required. The core is made from fire-retardant CMHR foam (Combustion Modified High Resilience) – an elastic polyurethane foam with built-in flame-retardant properties that provides enhanced fire safety and long-lasting shape retention – offering both comfort and stability for the user. Scorpio is available in fire-retardant versions tested to BS7177 Crib 5 and the highest classification, Crib 7. The mattress is easy to clean, antibacterial, and can be wiped down without affecting the integrity of the cover. Scorpio is available in several versions – as a standard model and in sizes specifically designed to fit Ryno beds. The Scorpio mattress is also available in a foldable version specially developed for environments where enhanced safety and continuous observation are essential.
