More product information

The frame is constructed from a strong plywood structure, reinforced with additional panels to withstand high loads and daily use in demanding environments. Solid wood legs further enhance stability. The substantial weight of the furniture ensures that it stands firmly in place and is difficult to move or overturn, further contributing to safety. The increased seat height of the armchairs is particularly designed to support users with reduced mobility, making it easier and safer to sit down and rise from the chair. The design is free from piping and buttons, and the fully enclosed base eliminates opportunities for concealment. Security screws and non-accessible staples are used to reduce the risk of unauthorised interference or misuse. The seat cushion and all upholstered sections are made from fire-retardant CMHR foam, combining comfort with safety for both users and staff. The fixed seat cushion contributes to a clean, practical design and increased safety. Please note that the narrow gaps between seat cushion, back and armrests are not sealed. Purl PLUS is available as an armchair or 2-seater sofa, each offered with either a low or high back. The range can be tailored to different interior concepts through a wide choice of fabrics and colours, with Aston or Highland textiles particularly recommended for optimal durability and aesthetics. The armchair can be complemented with our Foam cube stool 500 or Contessa Cube for enhanced comfort and functionality. However, we emphasise that this model is not designed for the most demanding environments. For such needs we recommend other solutions better suited to specific requirements, such as our Skye or Sigma ranges.
